A six-word narrative about living with blood cancer from patients in our LLS Community

Stay strong and keep moving forward. Find the positive in every day.
Be your own best patient advocate. Changed my life for the better.
Accept, learn and focus on present. Learning to live a different life.
Sudden and life changing—be positive. Waiting, worrying, anxiousness/happy I'm alive! Embrace a new normal each day. 5 years, 41 infusions, constant fatigue.
Patience, positive attitude, hope and faith. Test to test, I will survive! Treatment, fatigue, treatment, fatigue and survival.
Love life, live better every day. I don't look back only forward.
So far, so good, live life. Meditation, mindfulness, wellness, faith, nutrition and optimism. Finding the joy while living with uncertainty. Watch, wait, treat, regroup, rest, re-energize. Blessed to be doing so well!
Eye opening needed learning and healing. Feel great: uncertain travel plans annoying.
Renewed faith, meditation, diet, mindfulness, gratitude. Watchful waiting can be watchful worrying. Scary, expensive, grateful, blessings, hope, faith.
Thank god for stem cell transplants! Do not know what to expect.
Extraordinarily grateful, I love my life. Diagnosed; frightened; tested; treating; waiting; hoping. I'm more generous, impatient less often.
Embrace your treatment day after day. Live today, accept tomorrow, forget yesterday. Strength you never realized you had. Challenging to our hearts and minds. Life is what we make it. Live life in a beautiful way.

This publication is designed to provide accurate and authoritative information about the subject matter covered. It is distributed as a public service by The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society (LLS), with the understanding that LLS is not engaged in rendering medical or other professional services. LLS carefully reviews content for accuracy and confirms that all diagnostic and therapeutic options are presented in a fair and balanced manner without particular bias to any one option.

Oral Adherence [ad-heer-uh ns]

Taking oral (by mouth) medication as prescribed by your healthcare team

Over the last several years, there have been many changes in how cancer is treated. Many new therapies are now taken by mouth (orally). Oral therapy now plays, and will continue to play, a large role in treating blood cancers. With doctors prescribing oral medications more often, the issue of treatment adherence is important.

Why is treatment adherence important? Taking your medications exactly as prescribed gives you the best chance for a successful treatment outcome and helps keep you safe. If you do not take your medications as prescribed, your treatment may not work as well. Taking medication incorrectly can also be dangerous and increase the risk of side effects and complications. Visit www.LLS.org/booklets to view Oral Treatment Adherence Facts.

Tips for Patients

- Before you leave your medical appointment, be sure you understand and have a plan for remembering to take your medications as prescribed. Ask for written instructions and whom you can contact if you have questions. You may also find it helpful to take someone with you to appointments to listen to the medication instructions, too.
- Find activities you do every day at the same time you need to take your medication, such as brushing your teeth or feeding your pets. Use these activities to help remind yourself to take your medications.
- Make taking your medication part of your self-care routine. Taking your medication as prescribed is an important part of self care. Take your medication when you meditate, journal, go for a walk, or do another form of daily self care.
- Set your watch alarm, cell phone alarm, or virtual assistant to remind you when to take your medications.

- Use sticky notes to remind yourself. Place the notes where you will see them, such as on the bathroom mirror or the refrigerator door.
- If you use a pillbox, keep one pill in its original bottle. Then if you forget what a pill is for, you can find the bottle it came from.
- Put your pillbox in a place where it will remind you to take your medications. For example, if you need to take medication 3 times a day with meals, put those medications in a pillbox near where you eat.
- If you are taking other medications that don't fit in the pillbox, such as a patch or nebulizer treatment, place a large and/or colorful button in your pillbox as a reminder. Once you've taken that medication, move the button to the next scheduled dosage.
- If your spouse, partner or someone else living in your home takes medications on the same schedule, take your medications together so you can remind each other.
- Be sure you understand what each medication is for and how to take them correctly and safely. Ask your doctor what side effects you should report and when and who to call if you think your medication is causing a problem.
- Know when you will run out of each medication. Write refill reminders on your calendar. Don't wait until you have only one or two pills left. If your health plan has a mail-order service for refills, it may be easier and less expensive than a pharmacy. You may be able to get a 30- or 90-day supply of many medications. You may also be able to sign up for email, phone or text alerts from your pharmacy to be alerted when a refill is ready.
- Make sure your medications haven't expired. Ask your pharmacist how to safely dispose of expired medications.

How to Use Your Calendar

It helps to have a daily medicine routine. Use this calendar as an easy way for you and your family to manage medications and follow the doctor's instructions.

- The blank calendar days provide space for you and your family to write helpful information, such as
  - Medications taken
  - Reminders to fill your pillbox
  - Doctor appointments
  - Side effects you experience
  - Reminders to refill your prescription
- Use Your Medication Chart on pages 30 and 31 to list all prescription and over-the-counter medicines, vitamins, and supplements. Take it with you to every doctor visit, and be sure to update it whenever your medications change. Make sure family members have copies in case of an emergency.
- Use the Notes section at the bottom of each month to write questions you may have for your healthcare team or additional information.
- Use the Important Names and Numbers section on page 32 and 33 to list contact information about your doctor, healthcare team, pharmacy, caregiver, insurance, and other important people.
- Use the pocket on the inside back cover to hold the medication information provided by your pharmacist.

If you have any questions, please call the LLS Information Specialists Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. (ET) at (800) 955-4572.

LLS Health Manager. With the LLS Heath Manager™ mobile app, you can use your phone to track side effects, medication, food and hydration. You can set up reminders to take medications, to eat, and to drink water throughout the day. You can also share the information with your doctor to identify patterns and develop strategies to help manage side effects. Visit www.LLS.org/HealthManager to download.
